

2556 Harlem, Manhattan

LOCATION

New York, NY 10032

TAGS

Bedroom, Distressed Patina, Exposed Beam, Exposed Brick, Fireplace, Historic, Kitchen, Living Room, Modern Contemporary, Rustic, Skylight, Staircase, Staircase Ext, Stoop, Terrace Patio, Wood Floor

CATEGORIES

* In the Zone, Apartment, Loft, Townhouse

Notes

Film friendly

This historic Harlem 1882 painted-lady Victorian row house features mix of modern architecture and historic charm. Situated on a film-friendly, dead end cobblestone street. An open kitchen/living area featuring custom finishes in anodized aluminum and marble opens onto a sunny garden with weathered brick walls.

Exposed ceiling beams, antique random-width pine floors, and an oversized wood burning fireplace complete the floor-through space. The master bedroom features two soaring brick chimneys and exposed roof beams fifteen feet overhead. Crown moldings, exposed brick, and original pocket doors fill out the parlor floor.

Restrictions:

All floors must be protected, booties must be worn over shoes

Areas of use determined in advance

