Notes

Stunning English Tudor stone house set on the banks of the Delaware River and surrounded by 400 acres of forest.

The stone house, built in the 1930s features a great room with 14 ft floor-to-ceiling window of stained glass and vaulted ceiling, with hand hewn exposed beams. A large stone fireplace, rich wood panels, built in bookcases and a Steinway grand piano adorn the great room. The kitchen has a brand new induction stove/oven and all modern amenities. The wood paneled dining room also overlooks the river and the mountain range outside.

The home has 3 bedrooms and 2 ½ baths. The primary bedroom has a king sized bed and French doors that open to the stone patio. Spectacular views of the Delaware River and dramatic sunset from a classic gazebo situated at the top of a large grassy lawn. An easily accessible wide and flat river bank has 1000 feet of river frontage. A 400-acre forest of pine, oak, maple, endless ferns on a mountain presents great opportunities for a creative project.

A babbling brook, 1-acre pond, several blue stone quarries, rock formations, stone walls, and caves offer great diversity of scenery. Wildlife such as bald eagles, deer, and many other bird species abound.

A 1-room wood hunter's cabin tucked in the woods is also available.
