Notes

19th-century brownstone nestled in the heart of Manhattan’s Murray Hill, where whimsy meets grandeur. This 5,600 sq. ft. townhouse masterpiece of historic charm carries the legacy of New York’s golden age, infused with the artistic vision of its current owner. Every room tells a story, from the ballet-slipper pink walls to the custom Mexican pool tile mosaics in the bathroom.

Beyond its classic brownstone façade, this five-story townhouse is an architectural playground of ornate details and grand proportions. Features include: iron balconettes and French doors onto the stoop, curved wood staircase with iron balustrade, Murano-glass chandelier, vaulted ceilings, giant marble basin and fountain from India.

There are multiple adaptable settings: grand reception hall & dining area for intimate dinners or elegant showcases; lounge with exposed brick and original wood paneling for cozy conversations; a studio & office space for creative work or VIP green rooms; five full bathrooms and two powder rooms.
