Film friendly

This unique Fort Greene, Brooklyn garage used to be a lunch counter for the Navy Yard and then a motorcycle shop. Now it's been beautifully converted into a 2,400 sq ft space with the original garage door, studio, and basement. The basement is now a dressing room and walk in closet, the former repair shop is now the kitchen with stainless steel cabinets and wooden table. The bedroom is tucked behind a room divider made of old typeface drawers.
